Briefing for Business Owners

Are Local Customers Still Finding You, Or are AI Chatbots Hiding Your Business?

Millions of high-intent domestic property owners and businesses are completely changing how they source local contractors. Instead of clicking traditional website links, they are asking ChatGPT and Google AI to pick their providers for them.

When someone asks an AI platform to "recommend the best service provider near me with strong feedback," old search rules no longer apply.

If you don't act now, your steady stream of domestic and commercial leads will silently dry up.

AI search engines don't look at standard keyword counts. They screen the web to construct a list of recommendations. If you fail to clear this algorithmic filter, you are hidden from the results and this threatens your inbound lead volume.
